2019-08-02 ÅAC Microtec AB

ÅAC Microtec AB, and its subsidiary Clyde Space Ltd, announce the unveiling of the company's new combined branding and website. From Monday 5th August, both business will operate under the name 'AAC Clyde Space'; a name that maintains the heritage of both businesses in Sweden and Scotland and combined to reflect the fact that both sites work together as one operation. The change in name will be accompanied by a new logo and branding.

From Monday 5th August at 6pm CET, the www.aacmicrotec.com and www.clyde.space will be replaced with a single website at www.aac-clyde.space. All company products and services can be accessed via this new site, as well as as investor section and the latest company news.

As well as the introduction of a new website and branding, all social media channels will be combined to simplify communication for our customers and shareholders; there will no longer be separate accounts for AAC Microtec and Clyde Space on Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and Instagram from Monday 5th August at 6pm CET. The process of migration to combine our social media channels is different for each social media platform and, in some cases, may need some action by our followers. We request that people who follow the Twitter and Facebook accounts for AAC Microtec and Clyde Space look out for instructions from us on the current platforms on Monday.
