CEO comment

"The EBITDA margin is stable and satisfactory, despite lower sales due to delayed sales processes. SDS has managed to meet the company's target with an EBITDA margin in the third quarter of 21.1% and so far this year at 24.4% despite lower sales during the year. A high operating profit before interest, taxes, write-downs and depreciation as a share of sales shows a high efficiency in the operational activities.

The company has a good base with recurring income in terms of support and maintenance. Since the spinoff from SDAB and the listing in July at Nasdaq First North Premier, we have focused on developing the company's inherent strengths, and it is the focus of the management and the board going forward as well. This means that we are still focusing on existing customers to increase the sales of additional services and to increase our support revenues."
